

Truman Group Says Military Training Of 950,000 Yearly Is 'Urgent Necessity'

Peacetime Aviation's Worst Week-End

The worst two days in peacetime aviation occurred over the holiday week-end. At least 179 persons were killed in plane accidents. Two crashes in the U. S. alone cost 95 lives (inset). An United Air Lines DC-4 crashed during the takeoff from La Guardia field, N. Y., (1) killing 42. Less than 24 hours later an Eastern Air Lines DC-4 plummeted to earth near Port Deposit, Md., (2) killing 53. (NEA photograph)

Week-End Traffic Reported As Extra Heavy in County

Booklet Describes Three-Town Plan Proposed Three-Town Merger Would Affect 800-1,000 Pupils

A booklet, sponsored by the committee named to plan for the centralization of the schools of Olive, Shandaken and Woodstock, has been circulated throughout the proposed school district to familiarize the people of the district with the centralization plan.

Contained in the booklet are facts and figures on the centralization plan and a portion of the booklet is devoted to a question-and-answer section designed to meet specific questions which many of the citizens of the area have sought to have answered.

The proposed centralization of the school districts of Olive, Shandaken and Woodstock "would be one of the largest and richest in the State," the pamphlet states and would affect from 800 to 1,000 pupils.

Centralized schools in rural New York have long since proven their worth. The movement has been spreading so rapidly that more than 350 centralizations have been reported in the State in operation, with many proposed districts being studied. Conference and studies about centralization of our area have been going on since March, 1941, culminating in the formal intensive study made at the State Education Department in Albany on April 9 and 10 of this year when a committee from here worked with the assistance of education specialists on plans to determine what advantages could be offered to the pupils under a three-town centralization and what the costs might be," says the pamphlet.

The booklet points out that the one major difference of opinion in the three towns has been whether there should be one centralization or two. "This difference has been settled by the recommendation of the Joint Committee and the decision of the Commissioner of Education. In my judgment, the proposal of a three-town centralization is consistent, in my judgment, with the intent of the statutes, and I have personally and merely approved that direction as stated in this report."

The choice of a three-town centralization is not between a one-town and a three-town centralization, but between a three-town and no centralization.

Tables Are Used

The booklet points out through the use of tables that the present population of the districts is 788, of which 196 are in Olive, 290 in Shandaken and 290 in Woodstock. There are also 16 pupils from the town of Livingston who would be included. The total assessed valuation of the property in the district would be $13,217,880 and the true valuation $20,271,548.

Additional advantages in the proposed Olive-Shandaken-Woodstock centralization, as pointed out in the study, calls for a new 12

Railroads and Buses Carried Special Sections; Tapers Off Today

All highways in the Catskill Mountain region and main routes in the Hudson Valley were fixed with heavy flows of traffic throughout the holiday week-end and all local transportation stations reported the heaviest travel in many years.

Railroad and bus companies reported extra sections on afternoon and evening north-bound runs on Friday and similar heavy runs on late south-bound trips Sunday and today.

The Greyhound bus line reported that as many as 190 buses were used on various runs to the region within a 24-hour period and that extra sections on some runs ran as high as seven and eight. The heavy travel Friday to the region was equaled, if not surpassed on Saturday.

Douglas Chandler to Be Tried For Treason Against U. S.

Boston, June 2 (AP)—Douglas Chandler, former Baltimore newsman accused of lending his voice, under the pseudonym, "Paulo Revere," to Nazi radio propaganda during the war, goes on trial for treason today within sight of the American "Cradle of Liberty."

The scene of the first treason trial in New England history is the modern U. S. Court for the District of Massachusetts, only a few hundred yards from historic Faneuil Hall and not far from the Old North Church where hung the lantern that signalled the real Paul Revere to go on his famous ride.

The tall, graying defendant, a native of Chicago, is charged with "treasonably and treasonably" adhering to enemies of the United States—particularly the government of the German Reich.

The indictment returned last December alleges 23 overt acts. It charges Chandler worked as a radio speaker and commentator for the German Broadcasting Company and that his work included: "Preparation and composition of

Pope Warns World Leaders Normalecy Is Greatest Need

Catholic Leader Also Says Harsh Words About Victors' Hate, Violence

Vatican City, June 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII warned the rulers of the world today not to let the opportunity to restore normal relations between nations escape them.

"It could—God forbid it—be the last," he declared in a radio broadcast to the world.

The pontiff said the security which "was to have been the fruit of victory" and "for which humanity ardently aspires" had not yet been achieved.

The pope, who as Eugenio Pacelli bears the same Christian name as Saint Eugene, spoke on Saint Eugene's Day.

He began speaking from his private library immediately after receiving the greetings of the College of Cardinals, presented by its 86-year-old dean, Cardinal Granito Pignatelli De Belmonte.

He talked of "the great questions, the formidable events, the present hour, the dangers, that menace the whole world."

The pope said history's verdict upon the year 1947—"already half of its course almost run"—would depend upon the coming months.

"Do not," he said to the world's rulers, "let this occasion pass."

Critiques Victors

The pope had harsh words for the victors in the war.

"We well know, indeed," he said, "the extent and gravity of the unspeakable horrors with which the defeated system covered the face of Europe, nor do we wish to lessen the enormity of its guilt."

"But how is it possible for the victorious nations, in their turn, to adopt or tolerate the methods of hate and violence on which that system lived and thrived, or how can they use the weapons which aroused the righteous indignation when employed in the hands of others?"

Thus, the pontiff said, "once again we wish to exhort and warn the peoples. Security—insofar as it is attainable here below—can have no other solid base but the physical and moral health of the people, internal public order and abroad, normal relations of good neighbors."

Of this security, which he said people desired, the pontiff asked: "Where is it?"

The wounds of the war have not yet been healed; some of them in fact have rather been deepened and irritated," he said, but added, "normal relations—even after the second world war—are possible to rebuild."

"Do not fear: if there is today something that causes fear, it is cleared. There is no worse circumstance, especially in present circumstances."

Will Bless or Curse Year

"Future generations will bless (the year 1947) or curse it," the pope said.

"Much has been said also," the pontiff declared, "of a universal prosperity....which should also have been the fruit of victory. Where is it?"

Doubtless, he said, there are some countries where machines "turn rapidly and without interruption," but the prosperity of the nations "cannot be whole and secure if it is not the common lot of all."

Liberty, too, he said, "was to have been an exquisite fruit of victory...but it cannot flower except where the right and law rule."

The mission of Christians, of Catholics, the pope said, is to open the eyes of the peoples so that "those who see matters in the light of Divine order, may have no doubt that in the gravest antagonism of human and national interests there is always room for a peaceful settlement."

Fifteen Persons Are Missing; Large Share of Dead Are Children; Hardest Hit Is Pine Bluff in Rich Farming Area

Storm-lashed Arkansas and Oklahoma counted at least 43 dead and hundreds injured today from tornadoes which swept through rural areas causing thousands of dollars of property damage.

Hardest hit was a heavily populated agricultural region near Pine Bluff in southeastern Arkansas. Thirty-seven bodies were reported recovered and about 15 persons were believed missing.

A large proportion of the dead were children.

Hundreds were injured as the twister leap-frogged across the

Auto Mishaps Cause Most of 214 Deaths In U. S. on Holiday

Fatalities Fall Under 275 Predicted by Safety Council; Ahead of 1946

(By The Associated Press)

Despite the nation's two worst airplane crashes and two disastrous tornadoes, automobile mishaps again headed the list today of violent holiday deaths over the Memorial Day week-end.

The total of 214 traffic fatalities was far ahead of the 164 for the same holiday week-end last year but well under the 275 predicted by the National Safety Council for the period up to last midnight. The total from all causes was 480, compared with 292 last year.

The 95 deaths in the two airplane crashes and the 43 known load in tornadoes in Oklahoma and Arkansas boosted the toll from miscellaneous violent causes, homicides excepted, to 208. Drownings totaled 58.

New York, with 68 fatalities including 42 in Thursday's plane crash at La Guardia field, New York, led the list of states. Maryland was second with 60 deaths, including 53 in the other plane crash Friday. Arkansas, with 38 killed in yesterday's tornado was third.

California led the list of highway traffic deaths with 31.

Congress May Cut Short Its Vacation

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Congress may have to cut short its summer vacation if (1) the threatened coal strike develops and (2) the labor disputes bill up for final passage this week becomes law.

Predicting that last week's collapse of wage negotiations will "stimulate" President Truman to sign this bill, Senator Ellender (D-La.) said Congress in any event may have to take a direct hand if John L. Lewis calls his United Mine Workers out of the pits.

In the absence of a new law, Lewis could do this after June 30 without the threat of federal intervention. That is the date expiration of the Smith-Cannally plant seizure law forces the government to turn the mines back to private ownership.

Outlook Is Dark Unless Move Made

Drop in Readiness Will Invite Trouble, Is Opinion of Nine Civilians

Congress Is Silent Congress Shows No Signs of Reaching Defense Program

Washington, June 2 (AP)—The nation heard from a commission of nine prominent civilians today that the compulsory training of up to 950,000 American youths a year is an "urgent military necessity" in this world of insecure peace.

The alternative to that and other multi-billion dollar outlays for national defense is to invite "termination," President Truman's Advisory Commission on Universal Training declared. The group painted this bleak picture of the future if its warning goes unheeded:

"For a few years—from four to ten—our monopoly of the atomic bomb" and the availability of battle-trained veterans of World War 2 may serve as insurance against a sneak assault on the American homeland.

But the precipitate drop in the nation's state of readiness—"our military forces are a hollow shell"—will encourage "those to whom weakness on the part of peaceloving nations is a passport to aggression."

Other countries who share our democratic ideals will lose faith. And then:

"The mantle of totalitarianism will spread its darkness over still larger sections of the earth, increasing the peril to us and narrowing the capacity of those on whose aid we can count in the search for lasting peace."

Signed Unanimously

The document was drafted and signed unanimously by the nine members of the commission headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, scientist and president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The note of urgency which the commission gave its findings was not echoed immediately in Congress. There was every indication there that aside from possible enactment of an army-navy unification bill this summer—a companion step urged by the commission—any long-range defense program will have to await the next session beginning in January.

Although the Compton group went along with Mr. Truman's request that the official name of the project be only "universal training," it asserted:

"The only basis on which universal training should be accepted, in our opinion, is a demonstration that it is needed to insure our safety in a world in which peace is not yet secure."

Other benefits—physical, mental and moral—would be "by-products of a project which is made necessary by the state of the world today."

Outline of Program

As proposed by the commission, the program would follow this outline:

On the basis of census figures, between 1,000,000 and 1,100,000 male youths would become eligible for training annually for the next few years (eligibility for training would start at age 18 or upon completion of high school, whichever occurred first).

Out of this total, an estimated 200,000 would be physically or mentally incapacitated. An additional 50,000 to 100,000 would not meet present Army and Navy standards but still could be trained in some form. Taking variations into account, a pool of not less than 750,000 or more than 950,000 thus would be eligible for training. Basic training in camp or aboard ship (a choice of services would be given so far as possible) would last six months. The training would be consistent with developing weapons and techniques in warfare.

But:

"We feel there is no room in this program for the type of commando training which teaches hatred and seeks to instill lust for killing and emphasizes the most brutal means of destruction. Such instruction may be essential in time of actual war; * * * in peacetime this type of training would be sadistic."

Series of Options

Upon completion of the six months basic training, a series of options would be open to the trainee, including enlistment in the

Aldrich Warns Distortions In U.S. May Cause Recession

Montreux, Switzerland, June 2 (AP)—Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, said in a speech prepared for delivery here today that certain post-war "distortions" in the United States price and income structure "may lead to recession."

The New York banker, in the opening address of the International Chamber's eleventh congress, added, however, that "recessions which correct such distortions are not to be feared" and that "Europe does not need to fear that an American postwar corrective recession will degenerate into a depression."

He said the U. S. was "well aware of its strategic role in the world economy" and of its need for imports for "an economy free from exaggerated boom and deep depression" and for sharing in world economic rehabilitation.

Distinguishing between "recession" and "depression," Aldrich declared that "corrective recessions" were "not accompanied by large unemployment or great deflation."

"They are necessary to reduce costs and prices to a level which permits an economy to function to best advantage," he said. "Moreover, they serve to increase labor productivity and managerial efficiency and lay the basis for further improvements in living standards."

Aldrich said the world now should reduce trade barriers, restore "multilateralism in trade" and "eliminate the repressive domestic economic controls which are a heritage of the war."

"The International Chamber gives its full support to free market economies," he concluded, "because it is convinced that a free enterprise system alone permits full individual freedom and maximum economic progress."

The congress was the Chamber's first since the one in Copenhagen eight years ago.

Judge Martin, 67, Dies; Appellate Division Leader

New York, June 2 (AP)—Judge Francis Martin, 67, presiding justice of the Appellate Division, First Department, since 1935, died of heart disease yesterday. He was a native of Watervliet, N. Y.

When the Bronx was severed from New York county and became a separate county, Martin was elected its first district attorney, holding that post from 1913 to 1920. On his record of law enforcement, he was elected to the State Supreme Court in 1920. In 1927 and again in 1928, Gov. Alfred E. Smith designated him for the Appellate Division. He was redesignated in 1935 by Gov. Herbert Lehman and was re-elected as a Supreme court justice in 1933. On January 1, 1935, Lehman designated Martin as presiding justice of the Appellate Division. His secretary, James Dalton, said Martin's 26-year tenure on the Supreme Court and its Appellate Division was the longest ever served by a New York justice.

Surviving are the widow, a son, Francis Martin, Jr., a daughter, Mrs. Edith Martin Burke of New York city; a brother, James A. Martin of New York city, and a sister, Mrs. Rudi Detert of Scarsdale, N. Y.

Gives Tips on Caring For Evergreens, Shrubs

In an effort to enable owners and keepers of shrubs and evergreen trees to cultivate them properly, Walt Baran, assistant county agricultural agent, recently completed a report based on information furnished by Professor D. S. Welch, of the Department of Plant Pathology at Cornell University.

"Pines, spruces, junipers, arborvitae (cedars), firs, yews (Taxus) and other evergreen conifers, said Baran, are frequently affected by winter injury, drought or a combination of both.

"The plants appear as if dried out or scorched," he said. The needles may be apparently browned, or browned from the tips downward to part of their length. Needles and twigs are brittle and snap easily when bent.

"The terminal buds, he explained, are usually dry and dead, although sometimes a small amount of growth may take place. Plants exposed to strong winds are apt to show symptoms on one side only. However, in the more severe cases the roots are dying or already dead.

Ordinarily, Baran said, no evidence of insect injury or fungous infection is apparent.

These conditions, he continued, are brought about by a combination of unfavorable environmental factors of which weather conditions of drought, cold or unseasonable heat are the most common. Sudden changes involving heat or cold are more damaging than extremes. For this reason injury often appears in seasons where it might be least expected.

The previous condition of the plants often predisposes to this type of injury and the final effect may not appear for several seasons after the original unfavorable circumstances began their effects.

Trees newly planted or planted improperly, with twisted or crowded roots, are more liable to suffer, as are also those growing in poor soil where they are subjected to sweeping winds.

The chances of recovery in these cases, Baran said, depend upon the severity of the injury. If branches are brittle and dead, they will not revive. Pruning of such branches in the case of most conifers is of doubtful value. Because of the type of growth of these plants, it is not possible to replace them by subsequent growth. Watering will usually not solve the problem, because it is attempted only after symptoms have appeared, too late to avert the damage.

Heavy mulching with well-rotted stable manure, leaves or straw or other organic matter is known to protect trees from this injury to some extent, Baran said, and if individuals are not badly damaged they may be induced to recover by this treatment.

Where scorching is present throughout the entire plant, Baran cautioned, the chances of recovery are not good.

Boys Are Apprehended

Columbia, S. C., June 2 (AP)—Police Capt. C. W. Pruitt said last night he was holding two teen-aged youths who had been picked up in an automobile belonging to the superintendent of a private school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., where the boys were students. He identified them as Joseph Scinto, 16, and Quenton Murphy, 17, and said he understood they had been returned to the school from South Hall, Va., four weeks ago after being found driving the same car. He said they were students at the Dobbs Ferry Children's Village School. The boys told him, Pruitt said, that they had been "hogged with a leather strap after their last escape." Pruitt said the boys would be held pending instructions from the superintendent, Ernest Henry.

of Accident

New York, June 2 (AP)—Margaret Leddin, 31-year-old comptometer operator of New York city, died yesterday, the 42nd victim of the crash Thursday night of a United Airlines DC-4 airliner near La Guardia field.

Capt. Benton R. Baldwin, pilot of the plane, left Queens General Hospital yesterday to complete his convalescence at the home of another pilot, Clayton Stiles, at Roslyn, N. Y. The five other survivors remained in hospitals.

Another witness' account of the crash was given yesterday by 15-year-old Richard Schultz when he appeared at a police station to claim the bicycle he had parked near the marshy spot where the plane crashed and burned.

Schultz said he had left his bicycle to hunt a container for a small garter snake he had caught. It was about 40 feet away when the accident occurred.

"There was a crunching noise and all the engines caught fire, but there was no explosion," the high school student said. "I heard the scream of the fire engines half a minute after the crash."

"I was scared to death and backed up against the wall of the school (the nearby Academy of Aeronautics building). I stayed there about 15 minutes and then went home."

The boy's bicycle, found 20 feet from the plane, was burned and twisted. Young Schultz said he went to the spot Memorial Day but was unable to get through the crowds there to claim his bicycle. He found out yesterday it had been taken to the precinct station.

Port Will Renew Offers to Control Newark's Airport

New York, June 2 (AP)—The Port of New York Authority, which took control yesterday of New York city's airports, tomorrow will renew negotiations to integrate the Newark, N. J., airport into the metropolitan area's air terminal system.

Austin J. Tobin, executive director in charge of airports for the New York-New Jersey agency, said yesterday the authority would offer Newark officials at a meeting there tomorrow a long-term lease plan that would "parallel the New York offer wherever a parallel is possible." Newark had rejected an earlier proposal.

As finally agreed upon, the contract with New York city gives the Authority responsibility for operating La Guardia, Idlewild and Floyd Bennett fields for 50 years, the Authority to make $100,000,000 worth of improvements before June 1, 1953. The city is guaranteed a minimum annual rental of $2,000,000 and $150,000 thereafter. The Authority will issue bonds to finance the improvements.

Tobin, at a reception yesterday at La Guardia, said that assuming that the Newark field is included, the general operating plan will shape up like this: La Guardia Field for short-haul flights; Idlewild for long-distance domestic and international trips; Floyd Bennett for cargo, private planes and non-scheduled and contract flights, and Newark and a full range of domestic operations.

The Authority still intends to open the Idlewild field October 1 but two problems remain to be solved, Tobin said. These involve settlement of a union jurisdiction strike over installing telephone cables, and anchoring the sand that covers the unpaved stretches of the field.

Tobin said the Authority plans to provide a newsreel theatre, leaving alleys and swimming pool for passengers awaiting planes at La Guardia field.

We speak of the "everlasting hills," but actually the mountains of the earth are of short duration, in geological time.

Good Taste Today

"NO" TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Surprisingly enough, the following letter does not come from the mother of a girl: "Is it wrong, a boy's mother asks, 'to let two young people, 16 and 17, go to a night club? Some of the other boys and girls are being allowed to go and, while I can't approve, I am afraid if I say no that my son will begin doing things without even asking or telling me.' I can't believe that a nice girl of 16 would be allowed to go to a night club. She and a boy might go at a tea time and dance at one of the same places which at night is a supper club. But after dinner, a night club is no place for a girl who is not yet 'out.'"

When parents have made their children, either boys or girls, feel respect for their "No," there is seldom, if ever, any question of their willingness to obey. It is unpleasant to write—but it is an undeniable fact—that not to be able to count on a son's or daughter's frankness and willing cooperation is evidence of failure in early home training.

Dinner Welcomes Spices Back

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Recently in New York, 200 food editors attended a luncheon to celebrate the return of spices that have long been scarce on American tables.

The American Spice Trade Association gave the party. Since paprika is now coming in plentifully from Hungary and Spain, the main course was fricassee of chicken paprika. Freshly ground black pepper was also used in the recipe, as real pepper is beginning to arrive from the Dutch East Indies.

The sauce was made of rich top milk, tomatoes and onions, and a tinging of paprika. Macaroni-seasoned noodles went with the chicken.

Cheese imports have begun, too, and two of the hors d'oeuvres featured them, in Leyden caraway cheese and Hungarian Puszta cheese canapés. Crab meat tartlets were served with mustard mayonnaise with a dash of cayenne. The spiciest delicacy of all was celery stuffed with pate seasoned with curry powder, paprika, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. A dry sack sherry, instead of the traditional champagne, gave piquancy to the pre-luncheon gathering.

The soup, essence of shrimp, was a masterpiece, seasoned with bay leaf, cloves, thyme, pepper and saffron, with sherry added at the last minute.

The vegetable, spring asparagus, was served in a novel manner with a poppy seed sauce.

The rolls had poppy seed and caraway, now coming in from Holland and Denmark, as flavoring. The crescent-shaped szustangels are the rolls which made caraway seed famous.

Local Dodgers Win Three More Games to Increase Their Lead

Bloomingdale Is Beaten Here; Take Stroudsburg Twice

The Kingston Dodgers, eager to hold on to their three and a half game lead in the North Atlantic Baseball League, played spirited ball over the week-end, defeating the Bloomingdale Troopers in a twilight game at the Stadium Saturday night 8-6, and taking the Stroudsburg, Pa. squad in a doubleheader out of town yesterday afternoon, 11-4 and 8-2.

Sparked by the hitting of Walt Kowalski and catcher Tom Corrigan, the Dodgers defeated the Stroudsburg nine in a doubleheader at the Stroudsburg Stadium yesterday afternoon, winning the first game by 11 runs, 13 hits and one error, and against their opponents four runs, 11 hits and six errors.

Braun went all the way on the mound for Kingston, with Corrigan behind the plate. Cook and Seber divided the pitching duties for Stroudsburg, with Matting on the receiving end.

In the second contest, Kingston put over 8 runs with 10 hits, and chalked up three miscues. Neighbors and Antonetz were the Dodger battery.

Farmer, pitching for Stroudsburg, with Matting catching, was credited with the loss. His teammates managed to garner two runs on five hits, and totaled three errors.

Kowalski had seven hits in nine tries in the twin bill, and Corrigan four for five in the first tilt.

George "Sugar" Scherger's Dodgers tripped the Bloomingdale Troopers 8-6 in Saturday's twilight tilt, with Walt Kowalski's homer and triple sewing up the game for the local squad.

Roger Brown went all the way on the mound for Kingston, allowing only seven hits. Tom Corrigan completed the Dodger battery.

Bloomingdale's Norman Camp went to the showers after one inning and was relieved on the mound by Di Fiore. Dick Carson did the catching.

Brown Starts Off Form
Brown got off to a bad start for Kingston, with the first three batters to face him. With the bases loaded, cleanup man Butch Sowatski of the Troopers hit a deep fly to center, scoring McKenzie from third. Bob Leonard flied out to right, scoring McKenzie from third. Brown retired the side by grounding out, Kruppa to short. That made it two runs for Bloomingdale on no hits.

Dodgers Got Three in First
Kerr and Rosa walked, and out a bad pitch to Kowalski, executed a snappy double steal, but Kerr got caught off third for the first out. With a man on second, Kowalski lifted a long fly over the center fielder's head to tie the score with his second homer of the year. Williams tripled to deep left, and scored on a grounder to second by Scherger for the second out. Orlennan grounded out to the first baseman, leaving the score three to two in the first.

Ardeino's Triple Ties Score
Eddie Ardeino started the batting order for the Troopers in the second with a beautiful triple into deep left. Carson flied out to short, and Di Fiore brought in the tying run with a long fly out to left. McKenzie was fanned for the third out.

Myers Struck Out for the Dodgers
Myers struck out for the Dodgers, and Corrigan got on first with a single through short. Brown forced Corrigan at second on a slow grounder. With Brown on first, and two away, Kerr and Rosa singled cleanly and Kowalski cleared the bases with a triple into left-center. Williams was called out on strikes. Three runs came in on four hits.

No Hits No Runs in Third
Brown hit the lead-off batter with a pitched ball, getting a man to first in the third inning. DeGraw flied out to left, with Principle still on first base. A single by Sowatski forced Principle at second for out number two. Leonard flied out to deep center.

The Dodgers went down one, two, three on a streakout by Scherger, a fly to center by Orlennan and a grounder to third by Myers.

Kruppa flied out, Ardeino grounded out, and a walk to Carson was of no avail as Di Fiore flied out to left for the third out in the fourth inning.

In this inning, Corrigan led off, flying out to first. Brown got a clean single through second. Kerr flied out to center and almost caught Brown off first by the peg. Rosa sent a long single into center that was muffed, and the peg cut off Brown at home for the third out.

The troopers scored two runs in the fourth inning.

Dodgers Meet Mahanoy City

The Kingston Dodgers play a four-game series at the Stadium this week against Mahanoy City, single games Tuesday and Wednesday under the lights and a doubleheader Thursday.

Mahanoy is fighting for second place with the Carlondale, Pa. squad, both teams three and a half games behind the league leading Dodgers. Carlondale rates a percentage second place standing.

The fifth on one hit, a hard grounder through third. Principle got credit for a double after the left fielder muffed his liner and scored on a long fly to left by Sowatski.

The Dodgers went down in order in this inning.

The next run came in the eighth for the local nine, after the Troopers made two hits in that inning but were unable to score. J. Williams, for Scherger, singled safely over second, advanced a base on a bunt by Orlennan who made it to first on a fielder's choice. With two men on, Myers bunted safely to fill the bases.

Corrigan singled to left, scoring Williams. Brown hit into a double play, bringing Orlennan in and Kerr popped out to third.

Bloomingdale managed to garner three hits in the ninth, but could only put on tally across the plate. The boxscore:

Artie Barnes, the fire-balling Hofbrau twirler, gave up only five hits and struck out 15 batters as the City League nine defeated Cairo 6 to 2 in a Memorial Day contest on the Cairo diamond.

Barnes was in trouble only once when Cairo loaded the bases with none out in the eighth but he responded by striking out two men and getting a force play at the plate.

"Sleik" Carlingo, Hofbrau shortstop, led a 13-hit attack on Gustavus, Cairo flipper, with three hits in four times at bat. "Red" Gorsline, Battaglino and F. Francello each had two safeties for the winners.

Di Maggio on Hitting Spree, Giants Look to Mize's Power

(By The Associated Press)

Jubilant New York fans, envisioning the possibility of their first Giant-Yankee subway World Series since 1937, proudly pointed today to the slugging Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Johnny Mize of the Giants as the belting bellwethers who may lead their respective flocks into the October classic.

DiMaggio, after a slow start, is hitting on all cylinders again, looking more and more like the DiMag of old. In the past two weeks, the elder of the DiMaggio brothers has upped his batting average more than 100 points and is now breathing hotly on the neck of teammate George McQuinn for the individual batting leadership of the American League. He is currently hitting .352, two points under McQuinn.

Inspired by Joe's hitting spree, the Yankees have knocked out their opponents nine times in their last 12 starts to advance from second division to second place, three games behind the league leading Detroit Tigers.

Mize spearheads the Giants. Just as DiMaggio has sparked the Yankees, so has Mize spearheaded the Giants in their rise to the top of the National League.

Big Jawn leads all major league batters with a mark of .370, is first in homers with 14 and trails Boston's Earl Torgeson by one with 35 runs batted in.

Mize's superior slugging is the number one reason Mel Ott's charges are leading the Chicago Cubs by one-half game, after having been almost unanimously picked to finish in seventh or eighth place.

DiMaggio banged two round trippers yesterday, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Yankees to an 11-9 victory over the Cleveland Indians before 47,132 fans at Municipal Stadium. With the first game of the double header delayed by rain, the second was halted by darkness.

Mize contributed five hits in eight times at bat as the Giants came from behind to earn a split with the Cincinnati Reds before 45,795 fans at the Polo Grounds.

The Reds, aided by Eddie Miller's 10th home run in the ninth inning with one on, won the opener 5-3, but the Giants slugged out a 13-9 victory in the nightcap.

Cubs Take Phillies
Clyde McCullough's triple after Bob Sturgeon had reached first on Jim Tabor's error in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies before 14,841 rosters in Philadelphia.

The Boston Braves advanced into third place, one game behind the Giants, by sweeping both ends of a double header, 2-0 and 8-7, with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Boston.

Rockie Righlander Harry Taylor came through with another fine pitching performance, holding the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits in hurling the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-1 win at Ebbets Field.

Home runs by Jeff Henth and Vera Stephens, combined with the six-hit pitching of Jack Kramer, gave the St. Louis Browns an easy 7-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics. Rain washed out the second game of the scheduled double header in St. Louis.

Rain also caused the postponement of twin bills between Chicago and Boston and Washington and Detroit in the American League.

To Bolster Strain of Local Horses

Leon H. Smith of Smith Brothers' Riding School at Katsbaan, whose aim is to add aristocracy to horses of the Hudson valley region, has Black Jacket at stud, a former S. D. Riddle track star, that has domino and commando blood on both sides of his family. He's by Black Toney out of Friars Carse. As a two-year-old he won two firsts in five starts. The following year he took one first, one second and five thirds in 10 races. (Freeman Photo)

Famous Stallion Now at Stud on Katsbaan Farm

Smith Riding School Has Black Jacket, Former Riddle Horse With Track Record

The consignment of a thoroughbred stallion by the Eastern Remount Area, Front Royal, Va., to the Smith Brothers' Riding School at Katsbaan recently, has climaxed more than a year's attempts on the part of Leon H. Smith, operator of the school, to obtain a suitable stud to be used for breeding purposes, enabling horse owners in the surrounding areas to breed their mares at nominal fees.

The stallion appropriately named Black Jacket from the glossy coloring of his hair, measures 16.2 hands and tips the scales at 1200 pounds. He is expected to form the nucleus of the Hudson Valley Breeding Center, the first project of this kind, which is to be maintained by the Smith Brothers' school.

Smith, who is an old hand in the horseflesh business, having instituted the school a number of years ago with his three sons, petitioned the headquarters of the Eastern Remount Area, an Army-controlled reservation whose primary object is the raising and training and breeding of good horses for a worthy stud to be used in fostering better breeding in this locale.

The result of his requests was the receipt of Black Jacket, whose records both on the tracks and at stud are excellent. At the age of two, Black Jacket won two firsts in five starts. The following year his record read one first, one second and five thirds in 10 starts.

Black Jacket, who was raised by the famous breeder S. D. Riddle, has a pedigree that definitely classifies him in horse society's category of the elite. By Black Toney out of Friars Carse, the magnificent stallion has domino and commando blood on both sides of the family.

Small Profit, His Aim
Smith, who is currently operating the Riding school with the assistance of his wife, Clara, now that his three sons are all away (two in college, and one working), felt that since the exorbitant prices charged by many breeding establishments weren't within the reach of most horse owners, and since the necessity for good breeding is urgent, he wanted to operate a breeding center that would tend to cut down these charges to a minimum.

Popular with Vacationists
In the spring and fall, all-day outings are arranged through the country with free lunch furnished by the management. Week-end visitors flock to the school for these trail rides. The majority of summer camps in the surrounding area, according to Mrs. Smith, depend on the school to supply the children with facilities for recreational riding. An extension to the present stables is being planned by Smith to be able to cope efficiently with the demands of horse lovers, especially with the influx of summer residents throughout the mountain area.

New that the Hudson River Breeding Center has been officially inaugurated at the school, proprietor and Mrs. Smith invite a general inspection, and promise that answers to all pertinent questions will be given satisfactorily. Applications for registration at the center will be handled promptly, folds from grade mares being accepted in the stud line, and those from thoroughbreds or Morgans in their respective stud books.

Historical Site
The historical aspect of the Katsbaan area is enough in itself to draw countless visitors. The site upon which the Smith residence now stands was formerly occupied by one of the oldest taverns in that locale. The tavern was built in 1732, the same year as the Katsbaan church.

Historian Brink, writing of that locality, tells how the old Katsbaan residents used to flock to the tavern to warm their feet at the hearth during the cold months, prior to going to church. First they would derive a physical, outer warmth, he writes, and then go to church to imbue the inner warmth of the teachings of Christ.

Four former track records were broken and one tied in Saturday's events. The 580 yard, juvenile 220 hurdle and the shot put totals erased former record marks, with the existing 440-yard record tied by Newburgh, the same team that established it originally.

Eddie McCordie, Kingston High's ace, broke the 860 record by 2:02.6 minutes. It was formerly held by Newburgh's Cooper.

Weigel, of Port Jervis, tossed the javelin 181 feet three inches, to set a new all-time high formerly held by Newburgh's Farnell with 159 feet ten inches.

Port Jervis broke another time, the 220 hurdle, when Pitt finished in 27 seconds, two less than Harry Stahl of Kingston who held the record until Saturday.

regular Army, Navy or Marine Corps, entrance into a service academy (West Point or Annapolis), enlistment in the National Guard or attendance at a college with an ROTC program.

The administrators' commission of three members, two of them civilians, reporting directly to the President; a general advisory board representative of the public with local civilian advisory committees.

The time: Between $1,750,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 a year. The program would be under way about one year after approval by Congress and would be fully effective in about five years. In other words, it would take that long to create a pool of men trained for duty in any emergency.

Taking note of the form such an emergency might take, the commission said that at the expiration of this country's four to ten year "grace period" an attack of "indescribable horror" would strike American shores.

The next then, the commission said, would be for trained men "in every part of the country ready and able to meet disorder, sabotage and even invasion."

Asks Immediate Adoption
It called upon Congress to adopt its plan "at once," the advisory group said American involvement in war could come "at any time" through some aggression in a distant part of the world.

The commission's only reference to Russia was in an appendix to the main report. It said the Soviet Union's military power is based on compulsory service in the Red army and upon mandatory military training in the schools.

In that connection, the report said the United States is among the Big Five powers without a compulsory training program. Besides Russia, the commission said, Britain and France require service in the army forces, while China enforces a partial conscription program.

And of the 54 nations which maintain armies, the report said only six—Australia, Canada, Eire, India, New Zealand and the Dominican Republic—rely entirely on volunteers.

On the issue of cost, the commission members said "we view with horror" the "staggering" sums required for the training program and other national defense items.

Weakness Is Invitation
"But we recognize that weakness is an invitation to extermination," the report declared, adding that failure to take precautions now might result in "loss of our possessions, our liberties, our lives, and the destruction of mankind's hope for an enduring peace."

While declaring that the United Nations affords the best hope for eventually abolishing war and the use of atomic weapons, the commission noted that (a) the big power veto makes it impossible for the U. N. to act to protect itself against aggression and (b) there can be "no certain security" so long as there is no system of inspecting atomic activities in every country.

Week-End Traffic

return runs Sunday, the manager of the local terminal reported.

An extra heavy run of buses was reported at the local terminal of the Adirondack Transit Lines Inc., where it was reported that extra sections were used on Friday trips and on those yesterday from the city.

The rush continued on several trips today, but it was light compared to the heavy travel Friday and Sunday.

Extra sections were run on West State trains late Friday and again on return trips late Sunday afternoon and night. The Hudson River Day Line station, however, reported that while the rush was heavy for the holiday, it was not extraordinary as compared to other years.

The Greyhound line reported that the rush to the city was heavier today than on the return trips yesterday, because of the fact that many holiday visitors to the region waited until today to return. The manager of the station reported that of 12 or 13 trips made to the city Friday, all ran three to four extra sections while on one line seven and eight buses were used.

Despite the heavy highway travel to the region, however, both state and local police reported no serious accidents and few minor traffic infractions.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 2 (AP)—The stock market today started the new month with declining tendencies appearing in virtually all departments.

Assorted aviation led a dip at the opening, following the holiday plane crashes. Steels, motors, rails and rubbers took the downward course. Dealings soon slowed, however, and extreme losses running to a point or more were trimmed in the majority of cases near the fourth hour.

Profit cashing on last week's recovery received part of the blame for the retreat. Many customers also stood aside to await outcome of labor and tax legislation as well as developments in the coal mine wage controversy. A little short covering and bidding for a possible further technical comeback propped some favorites. Questions regarding the business outlook still were restraining factors.

APARTMENT BUILDING EXPLODES

This 17-apartment, three-story building in Denver was leveled like a house of cards by an explosion. Four persons were killed and at least 10 others injured. Investigators say an accumulation of gas apparently caused the blast. (NEA Telephoto)

This is no routine helicopter flight. The whirling rotors of this Army Sikorsky "egg-beater" are creating an artificial windstorm over these cherry trees in Santa Clara County, Calif., to dry out a $250,000 fruit crop dangerously soaked by sudden rains. After flying four hours over the orchards, the "flying windmill" saved the 200 acres of ripening cherries, which growers say would have burst in the hot sun.

Hospital Is Filled
Cots were used to augment the beds in Pine Bluff's hospital which was reported filled within two hours after the tornado. Other large buildings in Pine Bluff were opened to those with minor injuries and the homeless.

The alertness of Jack Sapp, a telephone worker, was credited with holding down the death toll in the Leedey, Okla., storm. He saw the twister approach and turned on the town's fire siren and shouted warnings over a loud-speaker system.

Rescue parties worked through the night with the aid of lanterns and flashlights since the town's power system was knocked out.

Leedey is south of Woodward, Okla., where 102 were killed April 1 by a tornado. Saturday's twister entered northwestern Oklahoma from Texas and passed near Gage and Arnett, Okla., before striking Leedey.

Evening Verse
(For Your Scrapbook)
By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR
I'D LIKE TO KNOW....
I'd like to know why corn will pop
When hot makes cornmeal will and drop...
I wonder why the sky is blue
And what inspires the rainbow's hue.
We always frolic in Summer heat
And scold at Winter's icy feet...
When I'm snug until we cry
Because we're pleased, I wonder why?
The ladies dress in nylon hose
The purchase shows with open toes
Then wear themselves in coats of seal...
I sort of wonder how they feel.
I'd like to know why happy hours
So often end in sudden showers
And why we say the word "hello"
Can you stand up and say you know?
A thousand things I daily see
Suggest a question box to me...
A million facts I'd like to know
And write them all... for you to read.

Direct Application

Often the best way to get what you want is to go after it directly. In job-hunting the direct approach may mean answering newspaper advertisements, writing directly to companies, or going right to company offices.

While the latter approach may work for some jobs, paying the way with letters is more efficient and less wearing. The usual method is, answering want-ads, but don't overlook the "direct" mail approach. By blanketing a field with letters, you are assured that if an opening exists anywhere in your chosen industry, your name is on file.

Your classified telephone book lists companies in every field, and business directories can give you the name of an official within a company to address your letter to.

What to say in your letter of application? Our Reader Service

contains valuable information

Flat Out Means Drunk
There are four stages of drunk-ness, said Squadron Leader J.
P. Donnelly, in Dundee, Scotland, prosecuting an airman for over-drinking — jocular, lachrymose, bellicose and comatose. A Gil-ruth, for the defense, said there are two definitions, however. One is that drunk means drunk. The other is that "he is not drunk who on the floor can still sit up and ask for more; the drunk is he who prostrate lies and lacks the power to drink or rise."
